Re: Request for Hearing
In The Matter of Jay Levy, Licensee
Order Revoking License No. 11-0047

Dear Ms. Petersen:

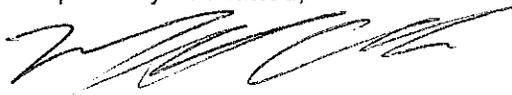

This is in reference to the captioned Order, copy attached.

Matrix Insurance Consulting, LLC has been retained by Mr. Jay Levy in connection with this Order and respectfully requests a hearing with respect to the Order.

The basis of this request and appeal for reconsideration is as follows:

1. The answer "NO" regarding prior administrative action was inadvertent and immediately corrected with a follow-up e-mail. Further, in support of the fact that this was inadvertent, documents covering the administrative action was included with his original application. If Mr. Levy had any intent to hide or mislead, those documents would not have been included.
2. The administrative action in question was taken against all major employees of the firm based upon policy developed by officers of the firm. (Mr. Levy was not an officer.) Mr. Levy did not abscond with client funds or in any way commit action which suggests he is untrustworthy. In fact, recognizing this, no attempt was made to collect the balance of the fine levied against his own name and he was advised that no attempt to do so would be made.
3. Mr. Levy's past character and reputation has been unblemished but for this disclosed proceeding.
4. While every state, of course, has the right to review each applicant, it should be noted that no other state has denied Mr. Levy his license, including his domestic state and all have review the material provided to the State of Washington.

Respectfully submitted,

Michael Camilleri
