This new law will update Washington's suitability standard for annuity transactions to a best interest threshold and aligns with updates the National Association of Insurance Commissioners made to Model Regulation # 275 on Annuity Transactions. The new law requires producers, and insurers where no producer is involved, to act in the best interests of their consumers when recommending annuities, complete annuity specific training, and to establish and maintain recommendation supervision systems that ensure the insurance needs and financial objectives of consumers are effectively addressed. Existing rules will be revised accordingly to update training requirements, terminology, and proper annuity transaction protocols. Reasons supporting proposal: This rulemaking will achieve alignment between the regulations in the Insurance Code with the new law in Chapter 64, Laws of 2023, and updates to NAIC Model Regulation # 275. OIC rulemaking will update training requirements, revise the prior 'suitability standard' with the new 'best interest' threshold (including consumer profile information), and generally achieve alignment between the applicable authorities, including terminology.
