Good evening,

I want to speak on a critical issue impacting both our practice and our patients. Auto insurers have been relying on the FAIR health database to cut reimbursement rates for essential treatments without justification. These reductions force providers to absorb financial losses and leave patients facing unexpected bills they thought would be covered. Insurance systems often treat everyone the same, regardless of the clinical needs. As a result, someone with critical illness might face the same cost as someone seeking minor care.

When reimbursements is reduced, patient care is also reduced and delayed leading to worse outcomes and higher long term costs. We need more transparency and accountability in how FAIR health data is being used. Patients deserve better and us as front line deserve to have a say.

Thank you,

Yazmari Martinez
