Health reform and what it means for you

Health reform requires most people to have health insurance. If your employer doesn't provide health insurance, you'll need to buy your own individual health plan during the annual open enrollment period. The good news is that if you're under age 65 and don't have insurance or you're struggling to pay for your insurance, you may qualify for help to pay for some or all of your premium. In addition, health insurers cannot limit or deny you coverage if you have a pre-existing condition.

Free or low-cost health care coverage options

Apple Health provides medical, dental, vision and mental health coverage to people of all ages who qualify. There's no open enrollment period, so you can apply throughout the year. To apply, go to the Washington Healthplanfinder at www.wahealthplanfinder.org.
